

Rank metric, where analogies to Hamming metric fail

Alain Couvreur

Inria & LIX, École polytechnique, France

A large part of the literature on rank metric codes consisted in establishing constructions and results that have their counterpart in Hamming metric. The topic of the talk consists precisely in taking the opposite view and presenting various situations where rank metric codes behave very differently from their Hamming metric counterpart.